COMBATTING HUMAN TRAFFICKING POLICY

Scope

This policy applies to all TimkenSteel employees, suppliers, vendors, contractors and agents of TimkenSteel Corporation and its wholly owned or controlled subsidiaries.

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to clearly articulate TimkenSteel’s condemnation for all forms of human trafficking and to outline the company’s anti-trafficking procedures in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, including those related to TimkenSteel’s performance of U.S. Government contracts or subcontracts.

Human Trafficking

The United States Department of State’s Office to Monitor and Combat Human Trafficking defines human trafficking as a crime involving the exploitation of someone for the purposes of compelled labor or a commercial sex act through the use of force, fraud, or coercion. Where a person younger than 18 is induced to perform a commercial sex act, it is a crime regardless of whether there is any force, fraud, or coercion. Victims can be from around the world or right next door: any gender, age or citizenship.

“Trafficking in persons,” “human trafficking,” and “modern slavery” are general terms - often used interchangeably - to describe crimes in which adults or children are exploited by compelling them to perform labor or engage in commercial sex. The U.S. recognizes two primary forms of human trafficking: forced labor and sex trafficking.

Forced Labor

Forced labor, sometimes referred to as labor trafficking, encompasses the range of activities involved when a person uses force, fraud, or coercion to exploit the labor or services of another person.

Sex Trafficking

Sex trafficking encompasses the range of activities involved when a trafficker uses force, fraud, or coercion to compel another person to engage in a commercial sex act or causes a child to engage in a commercial sex act.

Policy

TimkenSteel has zero tolerance for all forms of human trafficking anywhere in our operations or in our supply chain, including but not limited to threats of force, withholding of pay, confiscation of identity documents, false or manipulative recruiting practices, psychological coercion, or any other form of coercion or force.

TimkenSteel employees, suppliers, vendors, contractors and agents are prohibited from:

- Engaging in any form of human trafficking or sexual exploitation, including sex trafficking;
- Using forced labor;
- Confiscating or otherwise denying access to identification or immigration documents, e.g., passport, driver's license, etc.

Recruiting & Hiring

TimkenSteel complies with all applicable labor laws and will only use recruiters who comply with the local labor laws of the country where the recruiting occurs. Charging employees with recruiting fees is strictly prohibited.

Additionally, TimkenSteel employees, suppliers, vendors, and contractors are required to ensure that any employment offers, contract, recruitment agreement, or other applicable work documents:
